Space and Naval Warfare Systems Center San Diego Awards Contract

SAN DIEGO — IBM T.J. Watson Research Center, Yorktown Heights, N.Y., is being awarded a $5,780,767 cost-completion-type contract to support the Defense Advanced Research Project Agency's Microsystems Technology Office in the area of millimeter wave, silicon germanium (SiGe) technology for military and commercial applications including multi-giga bit per second wireless communications, high resolution radar and integrated remote sensors. This 14-month contract includes five options, which if exercised, would bring the cumulative value of this contract to $16,066,632. All work will be performed in Yorktown, N.Y., and is expected to be completed by December 2008. Contract funds will not expire at the end of the current fiscal year. This contract was competitively procured via the Commerce Business Daily's Federal Business Opportunities website. The Space and Naval Warfare Systems Center, San Diego, Calif., is the contracting activity (N66001-05-C-8013).
